A WRECKED VILLAGE.

DESTRUCTIVE WORK OF A WINDSTORM AT EDWARDSBURG, IND.

Crops and Property in Minnesota and Dakota Laid Waste—A Telegraph Operator's Terrible Blunder—Railroads Blocked by Storms in Texas—Jumped the Track—Collapse of an Opera-House—Casualties.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 7.—A destructive storm struck the town of Edwardsburg, Ind., about 11 o'clock last night, creating sad havoc through the village. The town consists of about seven hundred inhabitants and contains between two hundred and fifty and three hundred buildings. It is located on the Grand Trunk Railway 113 miles from Chicago, on the shores of Diamond Lake. The wind struck the village with terrible force, overturning and carrying away many of the houses. There is not a business building or house left standing, and the town is almost a complete wreck. A large and somewhat boat that had just been completed and had never been used was blown ashore and was torn to pieces. The roof of the opera-house was completely wrecked. Several dwelling houses were unroofed and a number of men and cattle were shot through the roof and the cattle unburr.

No other was injured so far as known.

A Green Storm.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 7.—The northward train on the Seaboard Route to St. Louis reached the village of Edwardsburg, Ind., last evening. The recent building of the Wampum Furnace Co. was so badly wrecked that it was impossible to run the machinery. The loss is $5,000. The Cooper Building was damaged to the tune of $10,000, and its roof was rotted. Several frame residences and barns were blown down and trees and fence posts were scattered about the ground in such a way as to prevent travel. At Redden and Falls, Minn., several buildings were toppled over and some burned by lightning. Two men were killed in the house fire.

At St. Peter, Minn., lightning burned two or three buildings, one a barn containing several horses, which were all killed. Large areas of corn were destroyed by hail. Many buildings were blown down in the vicinity of Milner, where there was a strip of country three miles wide. At Vilas, Wis., did considerable damage to growing wheat, corn and oats.

A Fiery Horror.

SAINT STE. MARIE, Mich., July 7.—A farm house, belonging to George Dobbs, located about seven miles from here, on the Canadian side of the river, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Four of the inmates, George Dobbs, aged 72 years; David Merrifield, and wife, and their son, and a daughter, were engulfed perished in the flames. The fire started from a smudge and when discovered by Mrs. Dobbs, who is 70 years old, had made her headway to the bedroom to regain control. Mrs. Dobbs quickly awoke her husband and Mr. Merrifield and descended to the lower floor. With a group of neighbors, they stifled smoke, she stumbled and fell through a trapdoor into a cellar, and from there made her way to the kitchen, where she was unable to find any means of exit in the dense smoke, fell back into the flames and were consumed. The children were asleep in another part of the house, and were suffocated with a sound, being probably suffocated. The women, who had no time to put on any clothing, lay dead in their beds, until the morning, when her cries attracted the attention of a neighboring farmer. She is badly burned, and there is little hope for her recovery.

A Fatal Blunder.

WILKESBARRY, Pa., July 7.—Telegraph Operator Heddleton at South Wilkesbarre, Pa., one branch of the Pennsylvania road, neglected to attend to an order instructing him to hold a passenger train leaving Wilkesbarry at 8:30 until one coming in the opposite direction from Scranton, Pa., had passed. He hardly passed his station when he remembered this error. He telephoned to the nearest station below to stop the up-coming train, but the alarm was given too late to prevent its passing. Telling the station agent what he had done, the half-drazen operator started for the office, but was stopped by a man. As he expected, the two trains collided with terrible force three miles from Nanticoke, wrecking the engine of the 200 passengers aboard, and killing twenty-four persons seriously and three fatal. The names of those most seriously injured are John Zeller, Charles W. Williams, E. B. Williams, T. S. Steppen, O. Urie, Cincinnati, O.; James Williams, S. Pfeifer, Nanticoke, Pa.; Lou Dallman, Wm. F. Dallman, Pa.; Dr. John Thomas, John Thomas, Nanticoke, Pa.; Frank Demarck, a Polish boy, and James Fairchild, Scranton, Pa.

Destructive Hall-Storm.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 7.—Advices from Evening Shade say that a terrible rain and hall storm visited Sharp and Independence Counties Wednesday. The damage was great. Sixty-five farmers in the vicinity of Charlotte lost everything in the way of crops, corn, oats and hay. The wheat crop was heavily ruined. Farmers are nearly all poor, and steps are being taken to aid them. The loss is variously estimated at $100,000 to $150,000 in the locality named. The destruction was almost equally great beyond Evening Shade, fanning, truss and crops being heavily damaged. The loss is cut low, if it is a mile and in many fields not a stalk of cotton is left standing. Hall fell as large as walnuts. A dozen or more boys were killed by lightning during the storm. No other lives lost, so far as reported.

The Stereo in Texas.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

HUNTERSON, Tex., July 7.—Terrible rains during the past few days have caused the washing out of the track on the Southern Pacific Road near Orange.

travel is completely blocked on that line. Many miles are now under water and in some places the water is nine feet deep. The rain is not yet over. The extent of the damage is not known, but it is believed travel will be suspended for several days. The number of passengers has been limited at a very small station with scant food supplies, and will no doubt need relief very soon, which will have to be brought to him.

Railroad Man Injured.

CAIRO, Ill., July 7.—H. P. Lowe, Cairo Agent of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, was very dangerously injured this morning at East Cairo and is unconscious at this writing. He stepped over something in an attempt to cross a trestle and struck by another which knocked him through a trestle. A bad scalp wound and bruises on shoulder, back and head were the result. He was brought to his home on this side at noon.

Drowned While Bathing.

CHARLESTON, Mo., July 7.—A young man named Owens was drowned while bathing in the nude near Huff Landing, this county, last Thursday. He was with a party of some ten or fifteen companions, who had come out to make an excursion, and the town is almost a complete wreck. A large and somewhat boat that had just been completed and had never been used was blown ashore and was torn to pieces. The roof of the opera-house was unroofed and a number of men and cattle were shot through the roof and the cattle unburr.

No other was injured so far as known.

Jumped the Track.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.

CHARLESTON, Mo., July 7.—The northward train on the Seaboard Route to St. Louis reached the village of Edwardsburg, Ind., last evening, totally demolishing the engine and doing great damage to the rolling stock. Firemen Gus Bryant jumped from the cab and broke his neck. The engineer made a miraculous escape. Several persons were slightly hurt.

Collapse of an Opera-House.

PEASPORT, Tex., July 7.—The first floor of Myer's Opera-house fell through last night, and the morning the back wall and south side wall went in. The entire building is about to fall in at any moment. One man was hurt, but only saw one arm broken and his forearm cut open.

The "Century" Fire.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The fire in the Century building was confined to the upper part of the house. It is thought to have originated in the bookbinding establishment of G. W. The fire was practical out by 6 o'clock this morning and order was given to stop the water. The circulation of the Post-Dispatch in the City of St. Louis is LARGER than that of any other newspaper. The books of the Post-Dispatch are always open and Advertisers are requested to verify for themselves our statement that our City Circulation is the LARGEST.

SATURDAY, JULY 7, 1888.

Notice.

Subscribers leaving the city are notified that they can have the POST-DISPATCH sent to them regularly to any address by sending their change of address to this office.

The indications for thirty-six hours, commencing at 3 p. m. to-day, for Missouri are: Slightly cooler, fair, followed on Sunday by stationary temperature and local rains; winds becoming southerly.

ALL our columns to-morrow will be full of interest, especially the first column of the editorial page.

The Chicago Convention had known what everybody knows now, it would not have written the platform on which the party is now wobbling.

The average daily circulation of the Post-Dispatch in the city of St. Louis for every day in the week is at least double that of any other daily publication in the country, with the single exception of the "Daily Democrat."

CLUBS of men who voted for the grandfather in 1840 and who intend to vote for grandson Bix in 1888 have been formed in several cities. But they will hardly embroil any of the pro-slavery and State rights dogmas of President HARRISON's inaugural on their banners. That would make their present candidate very tired before the campaign ended.

A BOSTON paper complains that up to date the Administration has expended $65,000 in a suit against the Bell Telephone monopoly and got nothing to show for it. Well, that amount expended in fighting monopolies is a trifling sum as air compared to the vast sums the Republicans have transferred from the pockets of the people to the pockets of monopolists.

A CLUB of Randall Democrats has been formed in New York City to support CLEVELAND on the Republican tariff platform. The whole Republican party of Minnesota is supporting HARRISON on a Democratic tariff platform. There are a good many people on both sides who will stick to party, regardless of its public policy, and support the ticket, regardless of its pledges, if permitted to do so on a little private platform of their own construction.

THE CHARGE that ALGER had an effective force of "bigger-buyers" in the field at Chicago rests on indications rather than positive proofs. Some of SHERMAN's Southern Republicans whose complexions are much fairer than their reputations, are not only well to work for ALGER, but their success in transferring about seventy-five Sherman delegates to ALGER in spite of instructions is powerfully suggestive of the anti-bolton auction block. The lumber monopolist's money, however, was only playing its assigned part in the Blaine game of crowding SHERMAN off the track and killing him off for good if he refused to get out of the way.

HARMON is another Republican State on the Republican party has followed the Iowa example of rebellion.

A resolution to the railroad bosses. After Harmon's speech, the endorsement of the national platform adopted by the nounces the free-pass system, demands stringent legislation against the acceptance of such favors by State officers and legislators, promises to embody the long and short haul clause of the Interstate act in a statute regulating local rates and insists that the new State Railroad Commission be clothed "with ample power to exact obedience to such laws, and to their own judgments and decrees." But as fast as railroad influence loses its grip on a Republican State it manages to capture a Democratic one somewhere. An inspection of the party committees, State and national, shows that the railroad attorneys are about as firmly entrenched on one side as on the other.

MEDILL'S MUDDE.

The Chicago Tribune in floundering through "the evolutionary process of mental reconciliation" has succeeded pretty well in stifling its own outrages against the woes and oppressions which "the protection czar" and the "monopoly policy" of its party have inflicted upon the farmers of the Northwest. A muffed, half-suppressed growl in their behalf still escapes from the Tribune occasionally, but it is doing its best to make them forget their own sorrows and listen to its shrieks about alleged wrongs inflicted by the Democratic party on the negroes down South.

Instead of clamoring for free trade or tariff reform, the Tribune is now screaming for free suffrage for the "suppressed vote" of the South. It appeals to Northern Republicans to cease their resistance to outrages inflicted upon themselves and to vote with sufficient clearness the position of the Republican candidate for President. In the view of many persons this record is highly creditable to him, and his partisans should not fly up in foolish rage at its presentation. It may have made any omission in this compilation of Senator HARRISON's Chinese record.

The vote-by which she last bill on the subject of Chinese immigration was passed, on the 1st of June, 1886, is not given in the Congressional Record.

But the above vote defines the position of the Chinese in the bill.

He voted against the bill which suspended the admission of Chinese for ten years, and which was then received by Federal officials and employees. The responsible executive positions of our great railroads now command much higher salaries than are paid to the Vice-President, Cabinet Officers, Supreme Judges or Senators of to-day, and the salaries of high Federal officials are now nearly double what they were half a century ago.

He voted against the motion to reconsider the vote rejecting the above provisions in the bill. See pp. 341-11.

He voted for the Edmunds amendment to prohibit the landing of common Chinese laborers and to admit skilled Chinese mechanics. See pp. 341-12, as above.

He voted agains the bill which suspended the admission of Chinese for ten years, and which became law by President Arthur's signature. See page 343, as above.

Influence of the Republican in the Coming Campaign—Great Advances Made in Organization—The Candidate—Bright Outlook for the Republicans—How the National Ticket Is Regarded.

E. K. Kimball of Nevada, Mo., Past Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, arrived in the city this morning and registered at the Leland Hotel. Post-Dispatch reporter called upon Mr. Kimball and asked him what the position of the campaign was in the State. He said:

"I cannot speak intelligently of the attitude of St. Louis," replied Mr. Kimball, "but as regards the other sections of the State, I have no hesitation in saying that things never looked so bright before. In Missouri the Republican party have long labored under disadvantages, internal as well as external, which have had the effect of reducing its strength and producing in the minds of all, Republicans and Democrats alike, a most undue idea of the overwhelming power of the Democracy in this State."

REPUBLICAN VOTING AS DEMOCRATIC.

"On all sides it has been said that the Republicans have no chance, and never by any possibility can we win. This statement, so generally accepted, has not only led to the involuntary masking of the Republican strength by discouraging organization, but also caused a very great and generally an appreciated apparent increase of the Democratic vote. The manner in which this was accomplished is as follows: Some Democratic candidates would be candidates for office, either municipal, county or State. Their friends would go into the primaries and nominate them, but as they had no chance of electing any man they u... up, and say that they will not support him, but will support the man most likely to the office who had a chance of getting it. This argument would be successful in most cases, and the result is, instead of running with those they believed to be a hopeless race with their own man, would express their preference as being for Democratic candidates, and feel at liberty to vote for the candidate whom they had sustained in the primaries. The effect of this was to very largely correspondingly diminish the Republican. This, of course, would add to the encouragement of the Democracy, and the repetition of the scheme is easier than its first introduction. While increasing the apparent, it really diminishes the real strength of the Democracy, as the Republicans have in this indirect way long held the balance of power in the State, and now hold it more firmly, less Democratically, and some of the best men now holding office owe their election to Republicans, as in most cases the Democrats are beaten, and were chosen much less creditable, although probably far more truly representative, standard bearers."

"The emancipation of Republicans from this self-imposed thralldom," Mr. Kimball continued, "had been a gradual process. We are there, but at least a rudimentary organization, a majority of Marauders—the consequence. Few people have any idea how greatly the Republicans, who before the election were considered to be beaten, were encouraged by the result of the election. For the first time there seemed a chance to remove from the field of politics the Marauders, and about the Republicans, instead of choosing the least Democratic evil, went in for the good of the State, the Greenbackers, who as a party did not deserve to be included in this. They are unscrupulously opposed to the Democrats, have generally declared that they are not for a general movement looking to the regeneration of Missouri. When the Republicans were beaten, their organizations, their numbers were astonished at the number of men who applied for admission. Not only old Republicans come in, but those of all kinds of names, and Democratic candidates, who were tired out by the most abominable rule under which the State has been living, are now taking a firmer hold and paralyzing the progressive party. He said he did not say that he did not rally and gain strength his last election is only a question of time. Now, however, his confidence is restored, and he is bright and his intellect as keen as ever, and talks calmly, resignedly of his approaching trial. About the only literary work he now does is revising the proof of his latest book, which he will publish in October. He is assisted in his work by Horace Traubel, a close personal friend.

Samuel Thomas Deserts His Family and Leaves With His Wife's Niece.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

SHARON, Pa., July 7.—Samuel Thomas, aged 45, eloped yesterday morning at 2 o'clock with Delta Berton, aged 18, his niece by marriage. Thomas leaves a large farm and had a number of members of his family and other stock which he was compelled to part with for his wife's sake. He was heavily in debt to merchants and owed nearly $1,000. He had a large family which he took a horse and buggy belonging to Frank Williams, the Adams Express agent at this place, and drove to the house of Mrs. H. L. Williams, his wife's mother, who kindly received her trunk to Thomas and found her elderly lover on the porch below. They left the house in the early morning and fed. Thomas' wife, some years ago, deserted him and he began an action for divorce. The court awarded the wife the sum of $100 a month of the sum of the war and was to have received a large pension soon. He leaves four small children.

THE COTTON CROP.

Regular Monthly Report Showing No Condition in the Memphis District.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 7.—The regular monthly crop report for the Memphis district, which covers Tennessee, Mississippi, North Arkansas and North Alabama, published by Hill, Foster & Co., says:

"The weather during June was unfavorable to cotton on account of too much rain, and the complaint is general throughout the district of foul, cross, bad weather.

But at the same time it is expected that the weather will be clear and dry and the cotton damage will have been sustained. There is very little difference in the general condition of the cotton crop in the Memphis district.

Standards are reported good in the memphis district, and notwithstanding the season is now well advanced, the cotton crop is beginning to bloom and is forming well.

These responses were sent in the weather has been favorable, and the cotton crop has no doubt made a rapid progress in the Memphis district.

But the abandonment of lands that were originally planted in cotton is so very great that the cotton crop in the Memphis district is correspondingly diminished.

Corn is reported good in the Memphis district, and the yield for a very large field is expected to be good.

REGULAR VOTING AS DEMOCRATIC.

tary masking of the Republican strength by preciated apparent increase of the Democratic vote. The manner in which this was accomplished is as follows: Some Democratic candidates would be candidates for office, either municipal, county or State. Their friends would go into the primaries and nominate them, but as they had no chance of electing any man they u... up, and say that they will not support him, but will ment would be successful in most cases, and the result is, instead of running with those would add to the encouragement of the Democracies are beaten, and were chosen much less

AN IMPECUNIOUS MILLIONAIRE.
Exploits of C. A. Howard in This City and in Springfield, Ill.

Mr. C. A. Howard, formerly head waiter at the Southern, and who states that he has fallen heir to a great fortune in England, seems, for so wealthy a man, to be peculiarly unfortunate in involving himself in financial difficulties. Three days ago he appeared before the court of common pleas, and the sum of one thousand dollars was placed at his disposal. The clerk in charge informed him that any number of handsome apartments would be given him if he would only go through the unimportant suit of his own. He had no money to cover the incidentals, however, and funds to cover the incidentals, however, necessarily for publication, but all he guarantees of his good faith. That Mr. Howard seemed unnecessary, and after valiantly endeavoring to borrow enough to meet his expenses, he brought him to the hotel, departed in high dudgeon. On Thursday evening he made his appearance at the Lindell, having in his possession a copy of the Springfield Constitution, his retinue. He was given three of the handsomest rooms in the house, one of which was that of a neighboring tailor, patronized a haberdasher to the extent of over $100, on credit, and was given a bill of exchange, which he would have most seriously deposited at the stock kept in the cellar of the hotel. His stay was a short one, as he took some inquiries relative to his claim, and then removed to "Hurst's," leaving his bill unliquidated. This morning a letter was received by the hotel from Springfield, Ill., in the Lindell hotel, stating that on the 7th of June he had stopped that house, and was given a bill of exchange, but temporarily short of funds, he left his bill in payment for his hotel bill, stating that he would collect a few odd hundred thousand dollars, and his gigantic fortune and liquidate his indebtedness. Since that time the hotel officials have been unable to get in touch with him, a nurse to whom he gave employment during his month's stay in Springfield, he was still away, and the money, too, the bill he gave him credit until his return, should amount to a sum sufficient to justify such a nabob in paying attention to it. The gentleman is still at Hurst's.

CANDIDATE KIRKLAND and Messrs. Standard, Henderson, Pearce, Freetorius, Fliley, Dyer, Frank, Orrick and others will address the ratification meeting, Music Hall, to-night.

A MOUNTAIN MASSACRE.

Five Men Slain in a Lonely Camp—Mysterious Disappearance—Texas Topic.

DALLAS, July 7.—An empty whisky barrel in front of a drug store at Lancaster exploded yesterday when a lighted match was accidentally held at the bough, Chas. Anderson being probably fatally injured. E. C. Haywood, traveling for a Cleveland lumber company, was yesterday found dead in his room at the St. George Hotel. He was a whisky drinker, but credited with an average daily record of about fifteen quarts.

A JOLLY PARTY.
The Hotel Clerks Entertained by Den W. Hewitt Last Evening.

One of the pleasantest entertainments of the season was that given last night by Den W. Hewitt to a number of the hotel clerks of the city, and several other gentlemen. At 7:45 a large beach wagon, drawn by four horses, drew up in front of the Lindell Hotel, and the party, fourteen in number, took their seats and were rapidly driven to the Kensington Gardens. There two hours were spent reading and then for the close of the performance Mr. Hewitt conducted his guests to Delmonico's, where they were entertained.

The Brooklyn play the Browns their first Sunday game in St. Louis this season at Sportsman's Park to-morrow and it goes without saying that the attendance will be the biggest of the season. Dave Fouts, Doc Bushong and Captain Eddie will be the chief attraction in themselves while the great success of the team is largely due to their manager, Eddie. The Browns are a fine team, and it is determined to have a tournament here, and this morning telephoned to Maurice Daly and Tom Sexton in New York, asking them to come to the city. Many of the wealthy members of Saratoga are clamorous for the contest. Miss Slosson will make arrangements with Frank Adams and others for exhibitions of fancy shots.
